

e-control

The tranquility to know that all are at their place

- Presence control by means of RFID reading.
- Manage from any terminal with internet access.

Control of the activity of the sentry and services employees by means of a device connected to the cell phone that identifies and communicates the stage of the service in real-time.

from 100€

In the cell phone: an application in the cell phone connects to KEYFREE, i.e. a radio frequency device for identification of the employee and the points of control that are situated at places specified by the company.

At the EMOVILIA website: There are a screen and activity lists for each client, place, employee, and for each date, what facilitates the detailed information on the entire activity of the company. The entire system works in real-time, with a cell phone and a web application for each client.

Advantages

Without big investments and without installations we get informed on the events of our employees in real-time, and about their activities, without more support than the functionality of a cell phone. The employees don't have to fill out delivery note forms again and again. Neither do we have to commission many more supervisors that notify us about absences or service failures.

Examples with e-control

Notification of Arrivals and Departures of clients of cleaning services, sentry. Casual directory of activity RONDAS, for places that require real-time supervision.
